02          .about {
03                      My name is Praveen Suhag. I'm a 22 years old web developer striving 04                      to create clean work that shows originality and creativity. I find 05                      great enjoyment in designing and developing everything from tiny 06                      ideas to comprehensive user interfaces. When I am not at the mercy of 07                      everyday situations, I spends my time dribbbling, reading, and 08                      writing stupid things.
